ENRILE TAKEN PRISONER ON RIO BRIDGE

DEPOSED FINANCIAL EXECUTIVE OF REVOLUTION ARRESTED FLEEING TO EL PASO.

Sends Message Announcing His Death to Poet Foes—Wanted for Embellishment.

By The Associated Press.
El Paso, June 9.—Gonzalo C. Enrile, deposed financial executive of the Mexican revolution, fleeing to the United States from enemies in the rebel zone who tried to kill him, was arrested early today by C. H. Webster, a Texas ranger, as Enrile crossed the international bridge from Juarez.

Tonight Enrile, once the right hand man of Gen. Orozco, author of a caustic anti-American proclamation and chief promoter of the present revolution, is a prisoner of the United States. His arrest was ordered by the Mexican federal government which charges him with embezzlement of funds while general under Diaz at Clifton, Arizona, eighteen months ago. His extradition on this charge would place him at the mercy of the Mexican government for his political activity.

Handwritten Rebel Funds.

Enrile handled the funds of the revolution for three months and admitted he had made enemies, finally being repudiated by Gen. Orozco.

Weak from knife wounds and a bullet hole in his shoulder, sustained in an encounter with two unknown assassins in the city of Chihuahua three weeks ago, Enrile sought medical treatment in the United States. He applied to Marion Lecher, the American consul in Chihuahua, for safe conduct to the United States, but the latter declared the matter outside his jurisdiction.

After a telegram had been sent announcing his death early yesterday the message being intended to foil his enemies, Enrile was placed secretly aboard a train in Chihuahua arriving in Juarez last night. He would have escaped the night, but for the watchfulness of Captain Carlos Gonzalez, chief immigration officer in Juarez, who arrested Enrile, taking him before Colonel Sosa, head of the garrison. Notwithstanding the safe conduct issued by his cousin, Gen. Pascual Orozco, the rebels officials made preparations to execute Enrile.

Gonzalez Found Him.

Early today Gonzalez, who blocked Enrile's escape, was found with a bullet through his brain. Gonzalez was a classmate of Christy Matthews, the New York National League pitcher, at Bucknell College. The general impression is that Gonzalez, who caused his death, fearing that Gonzalez might kill Enrile despite instructions from rebel headquarters.

"You might as well get General Orozco," said Enrile, as Ranger Webster led him to jail. "I came only for medical treatment, but if the Mexican federal government gets me, the revolution has lost its personal friend and supporter."

Enrile talked of his own importance to the rebel cause and expressed the fear that the Madero government would apprehend him by extradition. He will be held without bail for ten days pending the arrival of extradition papers from Mexico, when he will be given a hearing before a United States commissioner.

Enrile's flight is said to be a result of demoralization among the rebel forces.

MEXICAN MINISTER RESIGNS.

Member of Madero Cabinet Resigns to Avoid Persecution.

By The Associated Press.
Mexico City, June 9.—A crisis which for a time threatened to split President Madero's cabinet has been averted through the resignation today of Ignacio Rivero, governor of the federal district. Friction between Rivero and Jesus Flores Magón, minister of the interior, had been frequent and it has been an open question whether the president would resign. Flores Magón, who previously occupied the post of the assistant secretary of the interior but resigned upon appointment of Lora Magón to that department.

NAMES MEN WHO WILL SETTLE RAIL DISPUTE

By The Associated Press.
Washington, June 9.—The board of arbitration to settle the differences between the railroads east of Chicago and their engineers, which a few weeks ago threatened a serious strike, has been appointed by Chief Justice White, Dr. Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and Judge Knapp of the commerce court.

The board is composed of Oscar Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor; Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the American Review of Reviews; Otto Elditts, former chairman of the Building Trades Employers' association of New York; Fred N. Judson, lawyer of St. Louis; Dr. Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin; N. H. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and P. H. Morrissey, former president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

HUERTA REPORTED TO HAVE RESIGNED OFFICE

FEDERAL CHIEF IS PEEVED BECAUSE HE COULDN'T KICK OUT GEN. VILLA.

By The Associated Press.
Mexico City, June 9.—A report that Gen. Huerta has forwarded his resignation as chief of the army in the north growing out of an altercation with Francisco Villa and which resulted in Villa's recent arrest, was current in the capital today. The report was denied by persons close to the president.

Villa was alleged to have struck Gen. Huerta and to have been summarily ordered by the federal commander to suffer the death penalty for his act of insubordination. Interference by Emilio and Raul Madero, brother of the president and commanders of auxiliary forces under Gen. Huerta, saved the life of the honorary brigadier general and resulted in his being sent a prisoner to the capital.

Gen. Huerta, resenting the interference upon the limited authority conferred upon him in the north, was reported to have sent his resignation by the same train which brought Villa to this city.

The insubordination of Villa is alleged to have grown out of a demand that he and his men be allowed to take a certain town. Gen. Huerta refused to grant the permission on the grounds that when previous opportunities were offered Villa and his men sacked the towns.

TWO KILLED TRYING OUT NEW MONOPLANE

KIMMERLING, FRENCH AVIATOR, AND PASSENGER, DIE IN FALL AT MOURMELION.

By The Associated Press.
Mourmelon, France, June 9.—Kimmerling, one of the best known aviators, and an engineer, Tonnel, who was flying with him as a passenger, were instantly killed today by a fall of 500 feet. Kimmerling was trying out a new monoplane. The machine was seen to oscillate violently and then suddenly it dropped to earth.

Kimmerling had taken part in many important competitions including the Paris-Rome-Turin race in May, 1911, and the European race in July of the same year in which he finished fifth. The double fatality, coming so quickly after that of yesterday when Vimour was killed, has had a depressing effect among the aviators gathered here.

Kimmerling was a veteran airman of great experience and was considered a cautious aviator. The machine was wrecked and it was therefore impossible to ascertain the cause of the accident.

MAY LYNCH NEGRO FOR ASSAULT NEAR ATHENS

MURDER REPORTED TO BE SEARCHING FOR ASSAULT OF WHITE GIRL.

A report reached the city last night from Athens that a large mob in that section was searching for a negro who had assaulted a white girl fifteen miles from Athens, in the county. The sheriff of Henderson county had left for the alleged scene of the crime about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and had not returned to Athens up to a late hour last night.

The report stated that the mob had gathered from the entire section between Tyler and Athens and that if the negro was caught there was no question of a lynching.

Athens reported at midnight, however, that nothing had been heard from the sheriffs who had rushed to the scene, and it was generally believed that the entire story was a fake.

CHICAGO POLICE RESPOND TO FIFTY GENTLE RIOT CALLS

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, June 9.—The police responded to fifty riot calls in the ghetto today to quell disturbances due to the kosher meat boycott. Nobody was seriously injured and few arrests were made. A number of mass meetings were held to protest against the high price of beef and poultry.

A committee of 300 Jewish women was appointed at different meetings to visit the big packers at the stock yards Tuesday afternoon to renew their protest.

"Wrecking crews," composed of dozens of Jewish women, use a tour of the kosher meat shops this afternoon and poured kerosene on the chickens exposed for sale in front of the markets.

BURNS TO TESTIFY IN DARROW TRIAL

By The Associated Press.
Los Angeles, June 9.—Detective Wm. J. Burns arrived today to testify for the prosecution in the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, charged with jury bribery. Burns declined to discuss the nature of the testimony he is expected to give, but it is thought it will consist of evidence concerning the alleged attempts by the McNamara defense to corrupt witnesses who had been summoned to testify for the prosecution in that case.

BOAT CARRYING TAFT ESCAPES ACCIDENT

MAYFLOWER, WITH PRESIDENT, HIS WIFE AND NOTABLES, NEARLY IN COLLISION.

Steamer Northland, Attempting to Pass Yacht, Makes Miscalculation of Point Lookout.

By The Associated Press.
Old Point Comfort, Va., June 9.—The Mayflower with the president and Mrs. Taft and party of distinguished guests aboard narrowly escaped accident early today with the steamer Northland of the Norfolk and Washington line not far from Point Lookout, where the Potomac river empties into Chesapeake Bay. Only the vigilance of the officers of the Northland and the Mayflower and their prompt action prevented what looked for a minute like an accident.

As it happened the Northland narrowly missed the Mayflower. Off Old Point Comfort, one of two persons in the passenger boat who were looking on, got a momentary shock. It was a perfectly still moonlight morning with no moon and the lights of passing vessels could be seen for miles. The few passengers awake showed no signs of panic but they looked relieved when the danger was over.

Many Notables Aboard.

The Mayflower left Washington last night about 6:30 for Hampton Roads. In addition to the president and Mrs. Taft, General Wm. Crozier, Representative H. Gillette of Massachusetts; Clarence H. Kelsey and Mrs. Kelsey of New York; Mrs. Francis G. Newlands, wife of the Nevada Senator, and Major T. L. Rhoads, U. S. A., and Lieutenant J. W. Timmons, U. S. N., sides, were invited guests. The Northland on her regular trip to Old Point and Norfolk left shortly after the Mayflower.

The fragment of moon and plenty of bright stars made the bay all night long enough to read by, while there was hardly a puff of wind. The Northland gave a signal that she wished to pass on the Mayflower's port side and a few seconds later came the response from the yacht, one whistle blast, meaning that she wished the Northland to pass not on the port side, but on the star.

Officers in the Northland's pilot house were astonished when they heard the one whistle but they were even more surprised when the Mayflower began slowly to cross her bow. It was a few seconds before they grasped just what was happening but when they did, four or five sharp short blasts shot from the Northland's whistle, meaning the sense of "danger, look out." The quartermaster at her wheel was given a sharp order.

Engines slow down.

He flung the wheel over the engines of the Northland were slowed down perceptibly. She altered to port with a shudder and the Mayflower made her way across the Northland's course with a gull of deep green water narrowing to less than 100 feet. Once by the Northland's course, the Mayflower seemed to slow up, and the Northland passed on her starboard. The Northland came into Old Point at 7 a. m. on time. The Mayflower dropped anchor off Fortress Monroe shortly after 8.

President Taft was not told of the incident this morning but it was discussed among the officers. The president had only one engagement here today. With Mrs. Taft and their guests, he took breakfast with Dr. E. H. Frissell of Hampton Institute, of which he is a trustee. Later he watched the institution's battalion drill and attended church where he made a brief address to them.

He shook hands with several hundred students afterward. From Hampton the president and his party were taken aboard the United States steamship Sylph for a four-mile trip up the James river, with a short stop at Jamestown Island, where the first English settlement in America was made 365 years ago. Leaving here on the Mayflower, he due in Washington at noon tomorrow.

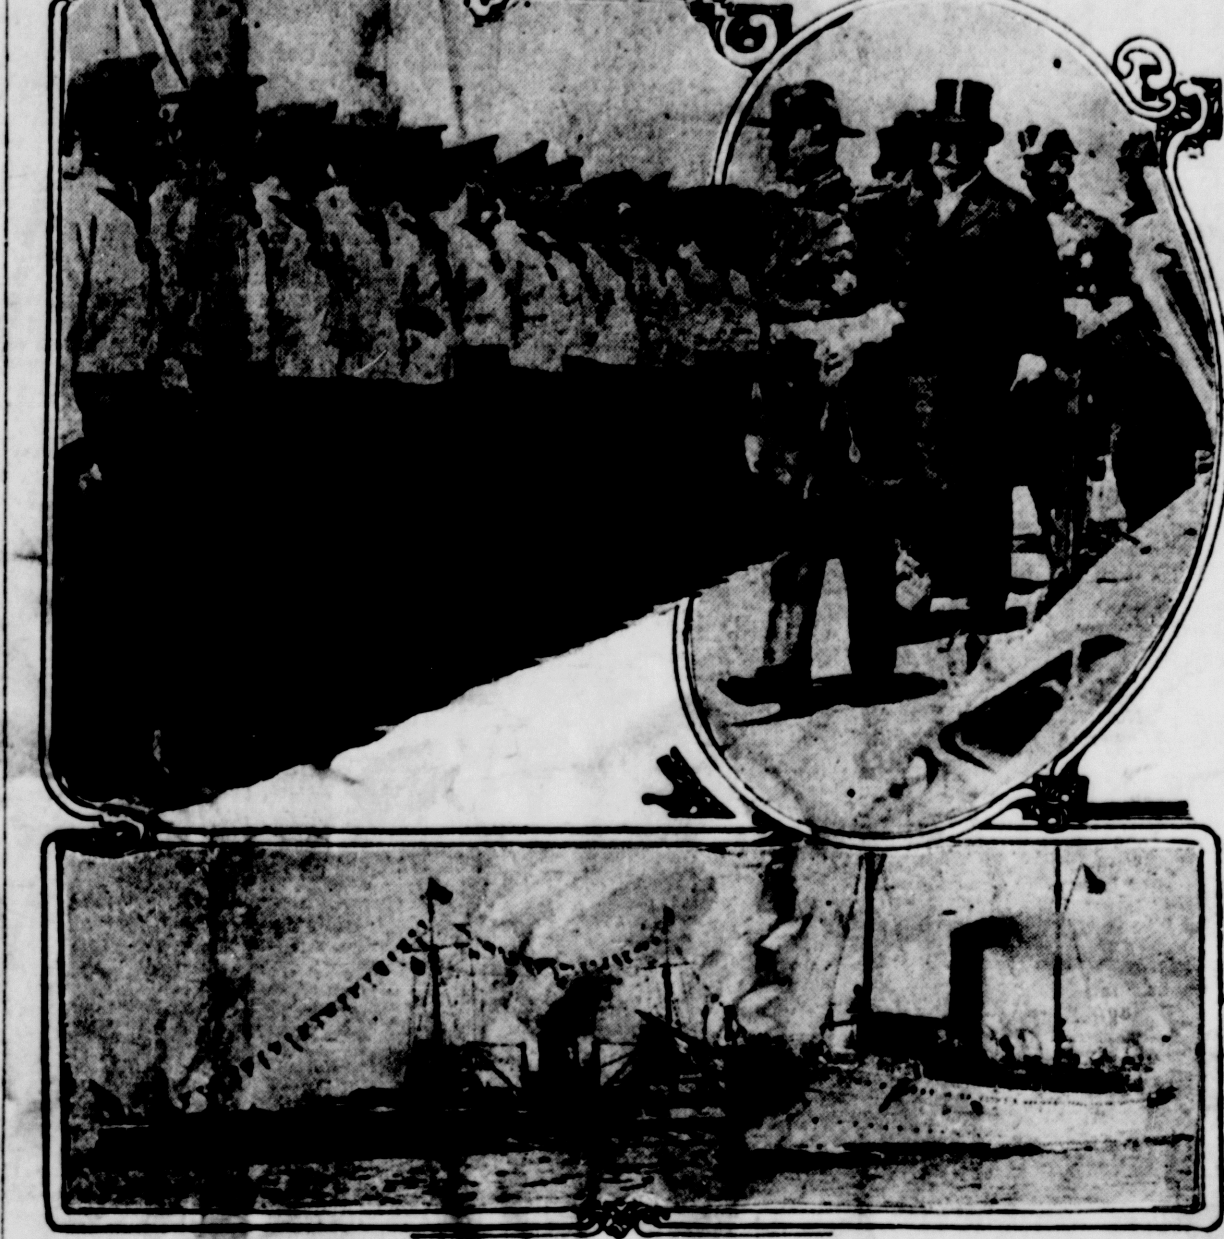

Rebels Burn Wife and Two Children of an Englishman

By The Associated Press.
Phoenix, Ariz., June 9.—With a story of how his wife and two babies were burned to death in their home near Tepic by roving bands of rebels, George Arnold Brown, an Englishman, passed through Phoenix today on his way to Los Angeles, where he will lay his case before the British consul. Brown said the Mexican rebels set fire to his ranch near Tepic during his absence and his entire family perished. The rebels then either killed or drove off all Brown's livestock. He said conditions in and around the city of Tepic and in the state of the same name were horrible.

POLICEMAN KILLS TWO.

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, June 9.—Two men were shot late tonight by a policeman on duty at the delivery barns of a Chicago newspaper which is involved in the present pressmen's strike, and both may die. The policeman has been relieved from duty pending investigation.

President Taft Welcomes German Fleet

VISITING WARSHIPS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

METROPOLIS PUTS ON GALA APPEARANCE TO WELCOME GERMAN ADMIRAL.

By The Associated Press.
New York, June 9.—Escorted by the fourth division, Atlantic fleet, with Rear Admiral Winslow in command, the three visiting warships of the German navy—the Moltke, Stettin and Bremen—arrived today and anchored in the Hudson river where thousands viewed the companionable fighting craft there along the river for more than a mile. There are 15 ships in all, including five of the United States torpedo boat destroyers. Their arrival was heralded to the city by the exchange of salutes. As the Moltke passed the Colors at Fort Jay on Governor's Island, 21 guns were exchanged but the American warships did not participate as it is not the custom in the United States navy to fire salutes on Sunday.

The distinguished German naval visitors, headed by Rear Admiral Von Rebeur-Paschwitz and including princely officers, were immediately received by the municipality, of which they will be official guests during a four days' stay. Seth Low, former mayor and chairman of a large reception committee appointed by Mayor Gaynor, steamed out to the anchorage of the mammoth Moltke off Eightieth street and extended to the Germans the freedom of the city.

MANUSCRIPT REJECTED, TAKES OWN LIFE

By The Associated Press.
New Orleans, June 9.—Despondent over the rejected manuscript of a play he had written and sent to New York, Henry B. Huber, aged 26 and unmarried, cut his throat and wrists at his home here yesterday, dying today at a local hospital. On his deathbed he expressed the wish that his wooden leg be buried with his body. The wish will be complied with.

AUTO GOES INTO RIVER, FIVE MEN ARE MISSING

By The Associated Press.
Boston, June 9.—An automobile containing six men went over an embankment into the Charles river early this morning and thus far the police have been able to account for but one of the number. This man, Gerald Whalen of Roxbury, told the police the others made their escape before the car took its plunge. The river will be dragged at daylight.

SEVEN OF CREW OF WRECKED STEAMER SAVED

By The Associated Press.
Norfolk, Va., June 9.—Seven men of the crew of the schooner Frederick Rose, after clinging to the mast of their waterlogged and dismantled vessel 36 hours, were rescued off Hatteras this afternoon by the United Fruit steamer Carrillo.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Washington, June 9.—Government prediction:
West Texas—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday.
East Texas—Fair in interior, increasing cloudiness followed by rain on coast Monday; Tuesday fair in north, probable showers in south.

CONVICT SLAIN IN MUTINY AT SAN QUENTIN

San Quentin, Cal., June 9.—A continuation today of the grube stake demonstration begun yesterday in San Quentin prison developed into a riot in the general mess hall, as a result of which one prisoner was shot and killed and two were wounded. The dead:

H. L. Lynwood, a naval prisoner, serving a term of six and a half years for desertion and impersonating an officer.

The wounded are: Frank Taylor, negro, serving twenty years for robbery committed in San Francisco, shot through hand; H. A. George, struck in leg by glancing bullet.

Throw Food About.

Nineteen hundred prisoners were sitting down to dinner shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, when 200 or 300 of the men began a concerted demonstration. Not content with voicing their protests with shrieks and catcalls, the demonstrators began throwing dishes and food about. Some made a rush for the adjoining kitchen and began hurling heavy pots and pans around the room. The men were driven out with a hose spouting steam, several of the rioters being severely burned.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE GIRLS WON'T RIDE CARS DURING STRIKE

By The Associated Press.
Boston, June 9.—Today was one of comparative quiet in the Boston elevated railway strike situation, and tonight the company attempted to keep up an all-night service.

On Dorchester street, in South Boston, a gang took a motorcar and conductor from a car and handled them roughly. In Roxbury, rocks were thrown at an elevated train from a house. No one was injured. Usually two officers were to be found on all cars.

Wellesley college students to the number of 100 have agreed not to ride on the elevated railroad cars when they visit Boston, and the money saved will be given to the strikers' fund. The girls will wear buttons bearing the words "Brothers All," "Hands Across the Tracks" and "We Walk to Help Organize the Carmen."

The prisoners were quickly marched to their cells, but the rioters, even after being locked up, continued their shrieks of defiance and kept up their shouting at intervals until late tonight.

Warden John Hoyle said tonight that thirty or forty of the mutineers would be severely disciplined. Ten men were singled out for disciplinary measures for yesterday's disturbance, but of these only four were punished.

COMMITTEE HAS SAY WHO WILL BE NOMINEE

CONTROL OF CONVENTION DEPENDS LARGELY UPON OUTCOME OF CONTESTS.

Associated Press Table Gives Teddy 411 and Taft 201 Assured Delegates.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, June 9.—The republican national committee will resume tomorrow morning its consideration of the large number of contested places on the temporary roll of the national republican convention which is to convene at noon on Tuesday of next week. On results of its action depends to a great extent control of the convention and nominations it will make for president and vice president, to say nothing of lesser matters of organization of the convention and the platform.

The contests in Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia, which were decided last week, added a total of seventy-two delegates to the strength credited to Taft. Whether it foretold a "steam roller" policy of giving the whole business to Taft, as the Roosevelt adherents now claim, or whether the contests still to be decided will give some to Taft and some to Roosevelt, is a matter of much speculation and bitter interchange between leaders.

Indiana Cases First.

It seemed likely tonight that the Indiana cases, involving twelve delegates—four at large and two each in the First, Third, Fourth and Thirtieth districts—would be taken up first when the committee meets at 10 a. m.; but the cases from Arizona, six at large and from the Fourth California, involving two delegates, will be considered before Indiana.

The vital importance of decisions of the national committee upon contests is apparent to any one studying the lists of delegations. Such study incidentally discloses the great weight which may attach to the twenty-six delegates from Wisconsin and ten from North Dakota, instructed for La Follette, and ten from Iowa, instructed for Cummins.

There is no reconciling the conflicting claim of the Taft and Roosevelt managers regarding the respective strength of their figures, each figuring into his tables delegations claimed by the other on the strength of convention indorsements, alleged pledges and other grounds. Reasonably dependable, however, seem the figures collected by the Associated Press, from which can be derived what may be described as the "bare bones" of the situation. These figures, which are unofficial and by no means guaranteed, are as follows:

How They Stand.

Whole number of delegates	Necessary for nomination
1073	540
Instructed for Roosevelt and uncontested	411
Instructed for Taft and uncontested	201
Instructed for La Follette, no contests	36
Instructed for Cummins, no contests	10
Uninstructed, including New York's 90	166
Contested	254

Of the 254 contested, the national committee has thus far given Taft 72.

These figures analyze as follows: Instructed for Roosevelt and uncontested—Alabama 8, Colorado 12, Connecticut 10, Illinois 2, Indiana 6, Iowa 16, Kansas 2, Kentucky 7, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 12, Mississippi 2, Missouri 2, Nevada 6, New Hampshire 8, Ohio 14, Oklahoma 16, Nebraska 16, New Jersey 28, North Carolina 16, Ohio 14, Oklahoma 16, Oregon 10, Pennsylvania 67, South Dakota 10, Tennessee 1, Texas 6, Vermont 2, West Virginia 16; total 411.

Instructed for Taft and uncontested (not including the 72 given him last week by the national committee)—Alabama 8, Colorado 12, Connecticut 10, Illinois 2, Indiana 6, Iowa 16, Kansas 2, Kentucky 7, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 12, Mississippi 2, Missouri 2, Nevada 6, New Hampshire 8, Ohio 14, Oklahoma 16, Nebraska 16, New Jersey 28, North Carolina 16, Ohio 14, Oklahoma 16, Oregon 10, Pennsylvania 67, South Dakota 10, Tennessee 1, Texas 6, Vermont 2, West Virginia 16; total 411.

Instructed for La Follette, no contests—North Dakota 10, Wisconsin 28; total 38.

Instructed for Cummins, no contests—Iowa 10.

Uninstructed and uncontested—Arkansas 2, Connecticut 4, Delaware 6, Idaho 8, Indiana 2, Maine 12, Michigan 2, Missouri 8, Montana 8, New Mexico 8, New York 90, North Carolina 2, South Carolina 6, Texas 2, Vermont 4; total 166.

Contested by either Roosevelt or Taft—Alabama 16, Arizona 6, Arkansas 16, California 2, Florida 12, Georgia 28, Illinois 12, Kentucky 18, Louisiana 20, Michigan 6, Mississippi 18, Missouri 14, North Carolina 6, Oklahoma 2, South Carolina 2, Tennessee 8, Texas 30, Virginia 20, Washington 14, Alaska 2, District of Columbia 2; total 254.

Of these contests, the national committee Friday and yesterday decided in Taft's favor all those from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and Georgia; total 72.

Out of these figures may be made any combinations to suit almost any political taste. It all depends on how the national committee decides the contests who get the uninstructed delegates, and most important of all whether the delegates now listed one way or the other "stay put."

DEMOCRATS WILL GATHER IN A PALACE

ARMORY WHERE UNEXPECTED MEET SOME HALL.

Was City's Greatest Asset in Landing National Convention—Seats More Than 15,000.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 10.—The democratic candidate for president of the United States will be nominated in a huge national guard armory situated in the residence portion of Baltimore. When this city sent its representatives before the Democratic national committee to bring the national convention here the possession of an ideal convention hall was one of the strongest advantages Baltimore had to offer. Since that time, at the expense of many thousand dollars, the hall has been made to answer every requirement of the delegates who assemble here on June 25 and the throngs that gather to watch their deliberations.

The Democratic national convention will meet in the fifth regiment armory, which occupies nearly a whole city square in the Mount Royal district, fronting on Hoffman street, and bounded by Preston street in the rear. At the two ends of the block are Park and Linden avenues, both of which carry trolley lines connecting with the business center. Two squares distant is the main station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and only a little further, barely five minutes' walk, is the Union station, where passengers arrive on the other railroads entering the city. Close at hand, within easy walking distance, is the city's largest hotel.

When the state spent $450,000 for this drill hall to house Baltimore's famous regiment, the "Dandy Fifth," big conventions were in mind and the building was situated and designed with reference to affording such accommodations. Exterior embellishment was a secondary consideration. The fifth regiment armory is surrounded by massive walls of grey granite, two stories high, from which rise twelve steel trusses that carry the arched roof to a height of 85 feet. It is lighted by windows in the side walls and by a skylight that runs the whole length of the apex of the roof. From the outside the appearance of the structure is not particularly impressive, probably because the principal dimensions are lateral, and too extensive for the eye to appreciate unless the beholder could look down on the building from an elevation. The armory extends 364 feet in width on Hoffman and Preston streets, and is 284 feet deep. The great drill hall inside, where the convention will assemble, is 300x200 feet.

Distances Impress Eye. To adapt this building further to convention purposes the state appropriated $25,000. The greater part of this sum has been spent to increase the seating capacity by putting in temporary balconies at the two ends of the drill hall. Decorations, which include the construction of a false ceiling to improve the acoustic properties, cost $7,000. Several thousand dollars have been spent in the construction of the speakers' platform, on seats and on remodeling the military company quarters at the sides and ends of the building for use as committee rooms.

As one enters the hall through the main gateway on Hoffman street the eye first is impressed by the magnificent distances and the seemingly endless vistas of seats. Under the hands of the decorators the place has lost its military, utilitarian look, transformed by the more than 40,000 yards of bunting that hides the roof beams, drapes the walls and covers practically every foot of the interior except the windows and floor spaces. The background is a soft effect of cream, gold and white, which makes an effective setting for the national colors displayed in countless arrangements, and the insignia and colors of the various states.

The seating arrangements here are the result of long study on the architects' part, aided by the practical experience of men versed in the practical problems of great conventions. This hall will seat comfortably more than 15,000 persons, and those in charge of its preparation believe they have worked out their problem so that every member of this great audience can command a view of the speakers' stand and understand what is being said. To bring this about the location of the speakers' platform was the matter of first importance.

In the Baltimore hall the speakers will stand well out toward the middle of the auditorium, directly opposite the main central entrance, midway between the ends of the hall and about 60 feet, or more than one-third the distance from the rear wall of the interior. This rostrum, the heart of the convention hall, is not large enough to permit much pacing about on the orator's part. It measures about 15 feet long by ten feet deep. It is elevated six feet above the main floor.

Back of the rostrum, two feet above it and communicating by steps, is another platform of the same size for the use of the secretaries of the convention. Back of this are 600 seats, banked at the rear to a height of 14 feet, which are reserved for the officers of the national organization. Grouped about the speakers' platform, at both sides and in front, are 435 seats for the press. These communicate through passageways under the banked-up seats behind the drill hall which have been fitted up for the use of the newspapers and press associations and telegraph and telephone companies. From these offices, within sound of the speaker's voice and of the secretary as he announces the results of each ballot, run wires that will carry the news of the convention to the world.

Room for 1,200.

In front of the platform, separated only by the narrow row of press seats and an aisle, are the places for the delegates who come to Baltimore to register the presidential choice of the party in the various states and territories may cast aggregates 1094, the number of votes these states and territories may cast aggregates 1094, the architects have provided seats for 1,200 delegates among them, send to Baltimore twice as many delegates as they have votes, each delegate being the custodian of half a vote. Back of the delegates sit an equal number of alternates, and these 2,400 seats occupy the center of the floor between the platform and the entrance. These four blocks of seats will hold much of the life and motion of the convention. The location of the representatives of each state will be shown by an elevated sign.

For convenience in handling the crowds, the convention hall seats have been divided into 76 sections, of which 49 are on the floor and the rest in the balconies. The floor will seat 10,661 and the balconies 1,408. Deducting the seats on the floor reserved for officials, delegates and alternates and the press leaves 7,220 for the public. These with the balconies make room for 11,628 seats for the accommodation of Baltimoreans and visitors who are expected by the ten-thousands from all parts of the country.

The public seats on the main floor occupy the two ends of the hall and run at right angles to the delegates' seats, so that when a speaker on the rostrum is facing the audience will get a side view of him. The great balconies that have been added temporarily to the armory project from the ends and overhang nearly half of these end seats on the floor. These two balconies are 200 feet long by 52 feet deep. At the front and back of the hall the narrow permanent balconies have been equipped with three rows of seats that will accommodate between four and five hundred. The balconies are 12 feet above the ground floor in front and securely supported by beams of wood and steel. The two at the ends of the hall are banked so that the view from the rear seats will be unobstructed.

To facilitate quick emptying of the building, 13 new doors have been cut in the granite walls, making a total of 18. Twelve of these are the use of those who hold tickets to the balconies, and enable the balconies to connect directly with the street. The extra doors on the ground floor are for use mainly as exits, since no difficulty is anticipated in handling all who enter through the wide entrance in the front and center of the building.

Seats for the public are reserved only by sections, which are designated by numbers and letters. The larger blocks of seats are numbered and each numbered block is divided into three subsections, lettered, respectively "A," "B" and "C." A ticket-holder who finds his place of pastboard stamped, for instance, "35-B" will find his seat among the 132 chairs grouped under that subdivision. These subdivisions include from 42 to 217 seats each, and the most desirable chairs in each division will go to the earliest comers.

The convention hall band will be in a stand erected over the main entrance. Space has been given for 200 musicians. A telephone with an electric signal light connects the leader's stand with the desk of the chairman at the opposite side of the hall, so that the latter may signal his wishes. The chairman's position is connected by telephone also with the six committee rooms, which have been fitted up in the vacated company quarters at the two ends of the building.

No expense has been spared to beautify the interior of the hall. The principal task of the remodelers was the construction of a false ceiling which would improve the acoustic properties by preventing the speakers' voices from being lost among the lofty steel trusses of the curved roof. This has been accomplished by suspending from the roof beams arched trusses of wooden framework which have been covered with bunting. The spaces between have been filled in with bunting so as to present an unbroken cloth ceiling, which at a distance looks more permanent than its temporary use demanded. The ceiling is cream colored, paneled with gold.

The construction of this false ceiling and the draping of the walls and girders and the installation of the flags, pictures and party slogans which make up the interior decorations occupied 14 men for more than a month and cost $7,000. Thirty-four thousand yards of cream, gold and white bunting have been used, and 6,000 yards of red, white and blue. To sew these strips of cloth together six seamstresses drove their sewing machines eight hours a day for two weeks. Three hundred flags have been used.

The balcony railings are festooned with national colors and at the base of each arch descending from the roof is the insignia of some state or territory. The speakers' stand is covered with red, white and blue, with the colors and arms of the state of Maryland banked in front. Most conspicuous of the portraits that adorn the walls are paintings of Washington and Jefferson, each eight feet square and executed especially for this purpose.

A feature of these decorations which the committee in charge is particularly proud of is that every yard of bunting used has been fireproofed. The fireproofing preparation was mixed with the dye and has not changed the appearance of the cloth subjected to this process. Although the cotton cloth used in its natural state is very inflammable, the fireproofed bunting will not blaze even when thrown into the fire. The cloth will char, but only in places to which a flame is directly applied.

The use of this fire-proof bunting in a building constructed of stone, brick and steel has not, however, prevented the convention committee from taking other precautions against a possible fire. The hall is provided with an unusual number of exits, and the fact that the main floor is on a level with the outside street is regarded as another valuable factor of safety.

DISCOVER PLOT TO MURDER MINISTER

CONSPIRACY TO KILL RUSSIAN OFFICIAL FRUSTRATED BY GIRL'S WEAKNESS.

She Was Chosen to Carry Out Design Upon Life of Victim. Attempts Suicide.

Special to The Morning News.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—A plot to assassinate M. Kasso, minister of education, has been discovered through the weakness of the unhappy girl chosen to kill the victim. The guard at the minister's home has been strengthened and the police are working day and night to clear up one of the most mysterious affairs that has excited public attention in Russia for many years.

The utmost secrecy is being maintained, but details of the story on which the police are working are leaking out. It is now known that on a recent afternoon a policeman stationed in Nikolaevsky street saw a young woman, who was passing him in a cab, take a little bottle from her pocket and drink the contents. Her evident agitation made the man fear that the mixture was poison, and he stopped the cab. His fears were justified, for as he stepped up the girl fell back in a state of unconsciousness.

The victim was taken at once to the Marie hospital, where an antidote was given her, which saved her life, and she was placed in one of the wards for further treatment. Sister Vera, a young nurse of 18, was placed in charge of the patient during the night. The unfortunate girl suffered a good deal, and for hours disturbed the ward by shrieking disconnected words and phrases: "The fatal lot!" "Murder!" "I myself perish."

Nurse Officer, Points.

At 6 o'clock in the morning Sister Vera said she was feeling ill, and asked to be relieved. Another nurse was sent to take her place. A few hours later the patient was quieter. Asked her name, she refused to give it, and requested to be registered as an unknown girl. This was mentioned to the police official, who had come to get particulars about the case, and he telephoned to his chief to ask for instructions. He was told to wait and in a quarter of an hour Captain Mikhailoff, a superintendent of police, arrived.

The patient had been allowed to get up, and was standing in the ward when the superintendent arrived. The instant she saw him she shrieked and fell to the floor in a faint. The officer's suspicions were aroused, and he examined the girl's pocket, in which was found a letter directed to another police official. In it the writer stated that she had drawn the lot to murder the minister of education, and that she had, therefore, determined to commit suicide. The letter, evidently written under the influence of great emotion, ended with a number of quotations from a poet about "red and white roses."

Nurse a Suicide.

The head of the secret police was summoned at once, and the girl, who still refused to give her name, was removed under an escort of gendarmes to the hospital of the Cross prison. Whether she is an "agent provocateur" of actually a terrorist remains uncertain, but it is possible that the letter found in her possession was written as a blind.

She had hardly left the hospital before a nurse came to one of the doctors and said: "A terrible thing has happened; Sister Vera has poisoned herself." The young nurse was lying dead on her bed with a bottle of poison at her side. What was the motive of her suicide is not known, but the police are following up the matter, and there seems some probability that the revelations made to her in the wild cries of the patient she had to attend may have warned her that a secret to which she was also a party was being revealed. This, at any rate, is the theory of the police.

A second suicide now has deepened the mystery. A policeman stationed outside the "Bouffe," a pleasure garden, heard a revolver fired, and the shot was followed by a wild cry for help from a girl in a taxicab. The policeman rushed to the cab and found that the girl's companion had shot himself and was dead. The body was taken to a neighboring hospital and the girl driven to the nearest police station, where she gave her name and address and stated that she had met the dead man by chance that evening in the train from Gatchina to St. Petersburg, and that they had arranged to go to the "Bouffe" together. She was perfectly calm and in a businesslike way said that her companion had seemed very gloomy and had told her that he feared she would regret having met him.

GREATLY URGED. He was the small son of a bishop and his mother was teaching him the meaning of courage.

"Supposing," she said, "there were twelve boys in one bedroom and eleven got into bed at once, while the other knelt down to say his prayers, that boy would show true courage."

"Oh!" said the young hopeful, "I know something that would be more courageous than that! Supposing there were two bishops in one bedroom and one got into bed without saying his prayers!"—Truth Seeker.

New York, June 9.—A group of prominent musicians who believe that the music of the classical masters has a tremendous emotional influence for good upon men of all classes, offered some time ago to test their theory through a series of high class concerts in the Bowery mission.

The first of these concerts was given last night with about 600 men, typical of the city's floater, as the audience. The performers were two soloists and a cellist, and the composers represented on the program were Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn and Tchaikovsky. According to officials of the mission, the experiment was a complete success.

The audience was made up of flannel-shirted, ragged, unwashed specimens who had sought relief from the dreariness of their cheap lodging houses or the heat of the streets. They were of every race, every creed or stage of unbelief. But all listened with unfeigned interest and appreciation to the music. Applause came suddenly at first, then enthusiastically. Such "uplift" as there was made itself apparent in the absence of the boisterousness that usually attends the breaking up of the Bowery mission meetings.

REMARKABLE STORY TOLD BY A. GORIN

Waco Conductor on H. S. T. C. Tells of "Plant Juice" and What It Did for Him.

The following remarkable testimonial for "Plant Juice" is made by Mr. A. Gorin, who for twenty-eight years has been a conductor on the Houston and Texas Central railroad, and who has lived in Waco for thirty-seven years, his home being at 316 Sherman street. Mr. Gorin says: "I have suffered with stomach trouble for twenty-five years, had two hemorrhages, and was almost ready to give up; had been living on toast, grape nuts and soft boiled eggs and unable to eat any solid food. Notwithstanding this strenuous dieting, my trouble continued to grow worse. I started in on Plant Juice, and before I had taken a half bottle I could eat anything I wanted without cramps or pain or gas formation. My food now digests perfectly. I have only taken one-half the bottle, and a man could not buy the other half. It is truly a grand remedy."

The people of Waco have had overwhelming proof that Plant Juice is the greatest tonic and most remarkable curative agent of the age. Many people in this city have in the last few weeks permitted the use of their names in the public press, warmly endorsing Plant Juice and in recommending it to their friends. Plant Juice is accomplishing a great work in this city. Any sufferer from nervous debility, stomach trouble, kidney, liver or blood ailment will find in it immediate relief and a permanent cure. It is purely vegetable and free from all injurious ingredients. Call today at the Old Corner drug store and get a bottle of Plant Juice.

He suddenly produced a revolver, and before she could realize what he was doing had shot himself.

Girl Deceives Police. She had told her story in so straightforward a fashion that it did not occur to the police to doubt her word.

has now been discovered, however, that her companion was an official of the ministry of justice, Andre Kuznetsoff, and that in his pocketbook was a newspaper cutting of the story of the unfortunate girl chosen to assassinate M. Kasso. It evidently had been carefully studied, for certain words were underlined in blue pencil.

This raised the suspicions of the police, and they at once went to the address given by the girl who had been with the young official at the moment of his death. They were surprised to find that nobody at the house knew anything about her, and woke up to the fact that she had deceived them. They are now searching for her, and up to the present have not succeeded in finding her. All the papers at M. Kuznetsoff's home have been seized.

The mysterious girl who is the central figure in this melodramatic story is said to have given important evidence to the police. Her photograph has been sent broadcast to police stations, and to the higher educational establishments. She states that she is a student, but none of the authorities at the university or other colleges frequented by women have recognized her photograph. The impression is growing that she is an "agent provocateur," charged by the police to arrange a plot and then betray the conspirators. The plan, according to this theory, broke down when she herself drew the fatal lot to assassinate the minister. The punishment for failure is death, and, knowing herself doomed, the girl resolved on suicide.

A great number of houses have been searched in connection with the affair, which remains one of the most extraordinary known here for years.

LIVES SIX DAYS WITH NEEDLE IN HER HEART

Autopsy on Insane Woman Patient in Hospital Shows Horrible Method of Suicide.

Special to The Morning News.

Philadelphia, June 9.—With a four-inch darning needle piercing her heart, Angeline Leonelli, 34 years old, a patient at the Pennsylvania hospital for the insane, lived six days. The case is the first of its kind ever reported to the coroner's office, and is said to have few parallels in medical records.

The woman pushed the needle through her heart last Tuesday afternoon with suicidal intent. She told about it immediately afterward, and a surgeon was summoned. The only external evidence of the entrance of the needle was a rather minute puncture of the skin and a slight discharge of blood, which was of short duration.

LAD WHO SHOT HIM

Youthful Hero Promised Not to Tell of Accident and Aids Playmates to Pray.

Special to The Morning News.

Phoenixville, Pa., June 9.—Confident that he had sheltered from discovery the little boy who accidentally shot him, 12-year-old Thomas Quinn died in the Phoenixville hospital. The bullet which yesterday entered his body from an old revolver as he handed the weapon to Charles Devlin, his playmate, made a wound which proved fatal despite the efforts of two surgeons to save the boy's life.

The inquest into the facts about the shooting, held in the office of Deputy Coroner C. H. Howell, unfolded a story of unusual fortitude and coolness, of which the dying boy was the hero. The testimony of his heartbroken playfellows, Charles Devlin, aged 16; "Jimmy" Devlin, 11, and "Barney" Rowan, 10, showed the efforts that the wounded boy made to protect Charles Devlin when, after directing them to hide the revolver, he promised as he "would not tell." After thus assuring them, he requested that they "kneel down and pray for him." After reciting a prayer, Thomas sent Charles Devlin, the boy who shot him, to the Catholic rectory to get Father James A. Givins. Before the priest arrived the boys had been discovered and the injured lad carried to a house nearby. There he was questioned by Policeman William Morris, as to the story of the shooting, but he steadfastly refused to tell.

Dynamiting.

Special to The Morning News.

San Angelo, June 9.—Scientific rainmaking on a large scale will begin here Tuesday—providing the citizens raise a bonus of $3000 by tomorrow night. The bonus is all but complete and the Messrs. Hatfield, whose success in the rainmaking business has been wonderful, have already begun their operations at Carlsbad, near here.

The Hatfields are not dynamiters. Their process is a secret chemical one. Aerial tanks are constructed and from these tanks certain gases are allowed to escape. These gases cause the air currents to gather moisture in quantities from even the most arid atmosphere, and ground-soaking rains of long duration follow.

Not An Experiment. The process is beyond the experimental stage, as is shown by the Hatfields' contract. They demand that $3000 be deposited with the treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce. If they cause rains which soak the ground over a given territory for a certain length of time, they are handed the money. If they fail to produce the rains, they receive nothing.

Their contract with San Angelo is the most strenuous test they have yet attempted. It calls for 10 inches of rain and not a fraction of an inch less. As their most liberal previous promise was but 6 inches, the San Angelo contract shows they have confidence in their ability. The agreement specifies that if 9.9 inches fall, and no more, they will not be paid.

It is said the rainmakers have their art to such a fine point that they can limit their rains to a certain number of acres.

This is their first appearance in this section, their operations heretofore having been mostly on the Pacific coast from California to Alaska and in the northwest. San Angelo being in the middle of a section of drought-stricken land, has secured their services first.

Success in California. The Los Angeles Examiner of May 19, has the following to say of the success of the Hatfields in making rain:

"Charles M. Hatfield, the rainmaker, has returned to his home in Los Angeles from the San Jacinto country where he held a contract with the grain ranchers, merchants and business men of Hemet to produce four inches of rain, they paying him $4000 if he succeeded."

"During January and February a drought of unusual severity prevailed there, and Hatfield began his work in March. During that month and the month of April 7.2 inches of rain fell, or about 200 per cent above the normal. In April 3.12 inches of rain fell, breaking all records for that country for 63 years."

"Hatfield's contract covered 100,000 acres of grain land, and after he had soaked the ground and almost filled the big reservoir of the Hemet Land and Water Company, his contract was renewed for the coming winter on the same basis."

New York, June 9.—Three small boys—Albert Kehn, 5 years old, of 91 Granger street; Edward Wild, 4 years old, of 81 Granger street, and James Morillo, 9 years old, of Fairview avenue, all of Corona, Queens—were buried beneath a ton of sand when an embankment caved in on them while they were trying to dig a cave under it. The boys were dug out by a gang of laborers, but it is expected that one will die.

The boys were playing about near their homes when they discovered a sand bank beneath a Granger street, in a vacant lot. "Oh," cried one of the youngsters, in delight, "let's dig a cave in the sand and play we're robbers."

Suddenly the top caved in, burying them completely.

The noise of the bank as it gave way was heard by Mrs. Josephine Kehn. She screamed, and a gang of a dozen laborers, at work nearby, rushed to her aid. They dug frantically and soon reached the Wild boy. He was unconscious, but soon revived and seemed little the worse for his experience. The second one found was Morillo. He, too, was senseless, and a physician worked over him for half an hour before he commenced to show signs of life.

Meanwhile the workmen were digging for Kehn, while the boy's mother knelt in the sand beside the fallen bank and prayed that he might be dug out alive. The boy was at the very bottom of the heap. As soon as it was discovered that life was not extinct he was carried to his home in his mother's arms.

Adams' Rise Is Illustration of Reward of Perseverance

Mr. A. D. Adams, the newly elected vice-president of the Waco Real Estate Exchange, is an illustration, true and forceful, of Waco's growth, coupled with foresight, hard work and straight dealing on the part of the individual—has in a number of instances accomplished for alert citizens.

Mr. Adams came to Waco twenty-eight years ago, and began work in a grocery store on a very small salary. His four years' service in that grocery store established him among employers of clerks as a worker and an honest chap. Finally he was rewarded by the highest pay a grocery clerk received, but a change of vocation was decided upon, and at a lesser salary. Friends inquired why the change at reduced pay? He told them "because the chance ahead is twice as great."

Mr. Adams went on the road as a traveling salesman, and followed this pursuit, making his headquarters at Waco until he became convinced that at another avenue of endeavor offered bigger reward. Giving up the drummer's calling, he started a hotel business, believing what he had learned knocking about over Texas towns in all classes of hotels stood him in good way of making out fairly well in pleasing the traveling public. When he first took up business down on third street, that end of the town was not overly inviting. The houses were run down, the neighborhood not the best surrounding for a hotel. By persistent effort the owners were induced to make improvements from time to time, until now the New Exchange Hotel with its annex opposite where the old transfer company used to be, have transformed the whole atmosphere of that block.

As was the case when Mr. Adams left the grocery store to go on the road, and again when he left the road to go into the hotel business, so two years ago he became alive to other possibilities, the probable growth of Waco and he began to make small investments in real estate. Not long after, a partnership to do a regular real estate business was made with Bob Etchison, and the Exchange Real Estate Company resulted. The First State Bank & Trust Company wanted another good business man on its directory and Adams was elected, but with all these interests Mr. Adams has time for other things. He said yesterday: "Yes, I have time to do a great deal more, and I'll tell you what that great deal more is going to be. I'm going to take a vacation. Mind you, I'm not leaving Waco very far. Just off a few days at a time with my family in the car. Can't afford to stay away long at a time because you just can't tell what minute some good trade is coming up, even during the hot months, for Waco is moving these days, and then, too, my kind of a vacation wouldn't be the real thing unless I could hear daily what my brother hustlers are doing."

Speaking of the outlook for heavy trading in Waco property this fall, Mr. Adams said:

"I don't see how it can be any other way. Values for years have been at a standstill. Just now the city has come to itself and has begun to put on grown-up clothes. Prospects for the coming year couldn't be better—Waco will have 5000 more people by spring; and the crops will be good. Going over to Austin the other day, I found the oats, wheat, corn and cotton all looking fine. It is seldom any one year has all these crops in abundance, but a couple more rains will insure the corn, and government reports lead us to believe we'll get them—so trading will be brisk, and if you want my judgment of the matter I believe firmly today's values as compared with what they were in the fall and winter will make handsome profits. The chance ahead is twice as great."

"Aw, you 'tink just 'cause you been to New York that you wrote the book."

"Well, anyway, you look at it; he must be a bug of some sort."

The above argument among a gang of newboys was called up in the heat of the day Saturday when a young man appeared downtown without any hat—not even a cute little rah-rah cap or one of those dinky silk hats affected by fellows who are thinking of buying an automobile.

The young man wasn't worried by the sun. He piped the chickens at the main corner and stood around with the rest of the pipers in a nonchalant manner. His hair was cut a-la-stickupsky, and his nose began to show up like the newly painted postoffice. In fact, the sun had turned his back into a sign post for dripping Springs, Ky., sah—your know, about to the peeling stage.

Whether the newboys were all right, or whether it's just the style to go without a hat, is not known, for just as the wisest kid was about to ask for information the young hatless wonder spied something he liked and sauntered jauntily down the street.

SOME EXPERIENCES IN PAYING BOUNTIESUTAH FOUND SHE WAS PAYING ON HIDES THAT HAD BEEN SHIPPED FROM S. AMERICA.

"Practically every state and territory in the Union has experimented with a bounty law," says William H. Wright in Fur News, "and every one that tried it has ended with a depleted treasury and about the same number of predatory animals it had at the beginning."

"In fact, no state has been financially able to continue paying bounties for any length of time. Reports of record show that in twenty-five years, prior to 1898, twenty-nine states paid $2,400,000 in bounties, and in not one of these states has there been exterminated a single species of beast or bird."

"California passed a coyote act in 1891 and for eighteen months paid bounties at the rate of $10,000 a month. Montana started to pay a bounty on ground squirrels and kept it up six months at the rate of over $9,000 a month. Not satisfied with that, she passed a wolf law and for fourteen months paid $6,419 monthly in bounties. Pennsylvania paid $150,000 for scalps of hawks and owls before she got tired. And Illinois tried to the tune of $55,000 to deplete the English sparrow crop in that state."

"The evils which arise from a bounty law are several. First, it creates liars and thieves. This arises from the fact that all states which pay a bounty do not pay a uniform price. For instance, from $1.50 to $5 was paid on wolves and coyotes in 1895 in and around the Black Hills of South Dakota; North Dakota paid $2, Montana and Wyoming paid $3 and Iowa paid $5."

"During the time this law was in force scalps were sent from one county to another, and Iowa actually paid on scalps that were taken in South Dakota. While the coyote law was in force in California the reward was $5, while only 50 cents was paid in Nevada. Nevada paid only a few dollars, while California was fast going bankrupt."

"That many of the states require an oath regarding the killing of these animals in no way stops this practice of shipping from one state to another. Utah passed a bounty law a few years ago, and after the state had paid more than $100,000 the people woke up to the fact that a company had been formed and the state had been paying on hides shipped from south America."

Another trouble is so few persons who have the paying out of this money can tell if they are paying on the animals claimed by the parties demanding payment. Dr. B. H. Warren, who has made a careful study of these acts for the government, states that while the law on hawks and owls was in force in Pennsylvania, the clerks paid on the heads of domesticated fowls, partridges, pheasants, cuckoos, butcher birds, also on night hawks or bull bats. In eighteen months Pennsylvania paid out of its treasury $30,000 for the destruction of hawks and owls."

"It is considered a conservative estimate to say that a hawk or owl will kill, to say the least, 20 cents' damage each year of its life; that a mouse will, to say the least, 20 cents' damage to a farmer; therefore, each hawk and owl is worth $20 a year to a farmer. A careful canvass of the state showed that in eighteen months the state had paid $30,000 to destroy animals which were worth $3,857,130 to save a possible loss of $1,875 on poultry."

"Advocates of the bounty system seem to think that all that is required to exterminate any animal or species is to place a bounty on it. But the destruction of any species is not a matter of a few months, but long, long years of time. We find that in England a war was launched against the wolf in the reign of King Edgar (959-975) and the job was finished in the beginning of the sixteenth century."

"Virginia started paying bounties almost from the first colony, and sometimes paid as high as $25 a head for wolves, but they were not considered exterminated until the middle of the nineteenth century, or until they had paid bounties more than two hundred years."

"California, Montana and Texas have tried the high premium acts and found it impracticable and disastrous. Maine has paid bounty on bears since 1830. Up to 1896 the anti-bear law had not shown any decided decrease. New Hampshire has paid bounties more than eighty years. In his report for 1894 the state treasurer called attention to the number of bear killed in four or five towns, and added that should the other 234 towns be equally successful in breeding wild animals for the state market, in proportion to their tax levy, it would require a state tax levy of nearly $2,000,000 to pay the bounty claims. New York withdrew rewards on bears in 1895, not because the bears were extinct, but because the number killed had steadily increased each year."

"In some states the owner is required to bring in the entire hide. They were canceled by the clerk receiving them and then returned to the owner. In Vermont skins were marked by punching two holes in the ear; in Wyoming one hole was punched in the foot; Utah canceled skins by cutting letters on inch and a half in length in the neck. The feet were then cut from the Wyoming hides and presented in Utah, which did not require the feet, and I have not the least doubt although we have no record of it, that the scalps were then sent to Vermont to get the ear punched."

"In Iowa it was said twenty-five years ago that it was more profitable to raise coyotes for the bounty than it was to raise sheep. Kentucky and New Mexico required affidavits from responsible persons that the animals had not been raised for the rewards. It is a matter of record that eggs of hawks and owls have been sent under bounties. In one of the Dakotas, where in one county the head of a squirrel was required to receive the reward and in the next county the tail, the bounty was paid in both counties on the same animal.

"A rancher in Montana during the wolf and coyote act trapped near his grain sacks in the winter hundreds of prairie chickens, which he split, filled with poison, and then drove for miles around the plains throwing out the birds, which he said would be eaten by the coyotes, as they would take a prairie chicken when they would touch nothing else."

"In the hills if the reward was on lions, the bounty hunted would kill scores of deer, set traps, lay poison and in many instances set snares made of wire. They slaughtered every living thing and would draw the animal on which the bounty was placed. I knew a trapper in Montana who killed many goats, sheep and deer, which he filled with poison, in the hope of securing the scalps of predatory animals on which there was a reward."

"The extermination of the noxious animals is strictly the work of every landholder and stockraiser. If one is trying to raise poultry, sheep or cattle he must enlist in the warfare and help to accomplish the end desired without any recompense other than the safety of his flocks. Other means have failed and will continue to fail."

PETHICK LAWRENCE NO
SMASHER OF WINDOWS

Male Suffragist Says He Loses the Idea of Breaking Glass, But Blames Government.

Special to The Morning News.

London, June 9.—The case for the prosecution of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, point editors of Votes for Women, closed when they appeared again at the Old Bailey sessions on the charge of conspiring together and also with Christabel Pankhurst, to incite their followers to malicious damage of property.

Pethick Lawrence then addressed the jury. He submitted that if there had been any conspiracy of incitement it was the ministers of the crown, including the attorney general, who had undertaken the present prosecution, who were guilty of it. He continued:

"I loathe the idea of breaking windows. It is essentially ugly and repugnant. If Premier Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, the attorney general and other members of the British cabinet had shown that they were prepared to listen to reason and argument it would not have happened."

TAFF LETS DOWN AND OILERS WIN OUT

WACO TAKEN LEAD IN SIXTH,
BUT REMAINS IN FRONT
ONLY FEW MINUTES.

Just Is Sent to Relief, But Fails to Put a Stop to Battering Rally.
Score 6 to 3.

Special to The Morning News.

Beaumont, June 9.—Just when a big Sunday crowd had resigned itself to seeing Waco win another game, the locals fell on Taff and Just in the seventh inning and batted in four runs, enough to win by a score of 6 to 3. After Beaumont had scored a run in the fifth, the visitors broke out with three in the sixth, and as Taff had been going in good shape, the lead looked good for a win.

But in the seventh the Oilers started after the pitcher's scalp. A walk and two hits netted a score, and with two men on base and no one out, Taff was pulled. Just, who was sent in, failed to stop the battering rally, and three more hits netted as many runs. The Navigators were lucky to get three runs off as many hits. Peaster worked in rare form except in the one inning when a walk, an error and two of the hits allowed the visitors to take their temporary lead.

By The Associated Press.
Houston, June 9.—Cavender had to present a make-shift lineup today, and behind brilliant work by Ray, Houston shut out Dallas, 5 to 0. Shantz was hit freely, and long hits by Whiteman and Newman had effect. Houston again outgained Dallas on the bases and cranked the visitors' attack. The game was slow.

San Antonio 9, Fort Worth 5.

By The Associated Press.

San Antonio, June 9.—In a game of terrific hitting, featured by five home runs and various other assorted wallons, the Bronchos beat the Panthers for the third straight time here this afternoon, 9 to 5. Fort Worth started a rally in the ninth with home runs by Cooper and Daringer and a single by Nance, after March had walked, but Rogers then went in. Only two men faced him, Thompson hitting into a double play. Daringer got two home runs for Fort Worth. The locals won by hitting three pitchers in the pinches, Perritt being most cruelly treated. Galveston 8, Austin 2.

By The Associated Press.

Galveston, June 9.—Blowing up in the tight places like a bunch of amateurs, Austin booted away the game to the Pirates this afternoon, losing by a score of 8 to 2. Lewis pitched erratically, being unhittable at times and at others allowing bingles in bunches. The game would probably have been a win in any case for the locals, but the rank support given Lewis was the cause of the whole-sale scoring. Moore was rapped freely, but was given flawless support and always tightened in the pinches.

PULMOTOR SAVED ONE WOMAN.

Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, June 9.—Women who tried to commit suicide with gas kept pulmotor experts here busy continuously today for two hours. The net result was one feminine life saved and one lost.

Mrs. Sadie Dougherty, who was deserted several months ago by her husband, was the woman saved. The oxygen machine had been applied to her for more than an hour when word was received that Mrs. Mary Williams had been found asphyxiated about a mile distant. The pulmotor was rushed to the rescue and was worked heroically, but the double task had not left the experts sufficient time and in the second case they failed.

BLOOMER GIRLS MET BY SQUAD OF POLICE

WHEN INFORMED THERE WAS NOTHING DOING, THEY WERE SURPRISED.

Intimate Suit for Damages—Four Members of Woman Team
Are Rebekahs.

The bloomer girls did not play at Katy Park yesterday as scheduled. Manager L. J. Galbraith, accompanied by the girls, appeared at the park and were met by Chief of Police Hollis Barron and a number of police, who quietly informed the girls that there would be nothing doing in the baseball line. The manager and the girls quietly wended their way back to the Natatorium hotel, where some of them began preparations to attend the Ham revival. Four of the women baseball players donned their best go-to-meeting attire and were noted among the large congregation at the tabernacle last night.

Four Are Rebekahs.

"What do I think of Waco, eh, what a funny question!" exclaimed Miss Brown, one of the star players to a Morning News representative at the hotel last night. "I do know that I have been on the road fifteen years and have played in some of the best and most moral towns and cities on the map, and never before was I stopped."

"I am a member of the Order of Rebekahs and three others of our team also belong to the order. When anyone attempts to cast reflections upon our character or reputation I think it is time to call a halt. I don't believe it was Waco people who stopped us, however, as I believe it is to live a town. The people were misled into judging us wrongly. If they really knew us it might be different."

"We have a record of winning 27 games in 28 days," Manager Galbraith stated, and he produced hundreds of letters and telegrams from as many towns and cities in Texas and elsewhere, and in every case the Bloomer girls were lauded to the skies and were asked to play return dates.

May Enter Suit for Damages.

"We have been on the road continuously for the past eight years and this is the first time we have ever encountered the least opposition. I was really dumfounded when I was met at the park by the chief of police and a squadron of policemen. I at first regarded all this talk about us being not allowed to play as a mere joke. I never thought that we were violating any law, and I don't think so yet."

He intimated that legal proceedings would be instituted against responsible parties, and he stated that an attorney had been retained. He estimated that he had lost $500 by his cancelled date and believed some one should be made to reimburse him.

The "Original Boston Bloomer Girl" baseball team is composed of 14 players, and of the number only seven are females. The team will leave Waco early this morning for Chilton, where they are scheduled to play at a picnic. A game has been arranged for West Wednesday.

1,500-POUND FISH EXHIBITED.

Special to The Morning News.

Long Beach, June 9.—The 1,500-pound sunfish, the largest of its kind ever caught in local waters, is attracting the attention of thousands of visitors to the beach, where it is being exhibited under the auspices of the Pike Business Men's Association.

The monster is 12 feet across its body and 10 feet from nose to tail. It was captured while it slept on the surface of the water, by the crew of a fishing launch. It was towed to the inner harbor, kept alive until yesterday, then dispatched.

In shape it is one of the queerest of the finny tribe. With practically no tail, it broadens out in the center, where two long fins protrude, ending in a bullet-shaped head with large eyes and a tiny mouth, not much larger than that of a yellow-tail.

POSTCARD CRAZE GROWS.

Paris, June 9.—Some conception of the world craze for picture postcards may be obtained from figures which come from Switzerland. In the year 1911 in Switzerland there passed through the postoffices 110,000,000 cards of every kind, though chiefly illustrated. This was an increase of 8,000,000 over the preceding year.

QUELLE EST BELLE LEAD.

By The Associated Press.

Paris, June 9.—August Belmont's Quelle Est Belle II today won the Prix De Diane—the French Oaks—from a field of 20 horses at the Chantilly course. Edmond Blanc's Porte Maillot was second and W. K. Vanderbilt's Slightly third.

The French Oaks, a 10 and a half furlong event, for three year old fillies, was valued this year at $17,400. In spite of showery weather, a great crowd of fashionable and sporting people attended, a strong American contingent being present. Quelle Est Belle II ruled favorite at 5 to 1. Porte Maillot was at 4 to 1 and Slightly at 40 to 1. Al-mos from the start Porte Maillot and Quelle Est Belle II shot to the front. Entering the stretch they raced neck and neck but Baillet's jockey mistook the last post for the winning post and dropped his hands. The Belmont filly forged in front and won by a short head.

Stockholm.

By The Associated Press.

New York, June 9.—Confident that the showing made both east and west in the Olympic tryouts yesterday, coupled with the Pacific coast records, spells the most sweeping victory Americans have made in the Olympic games, the members of the American team selection committee will meet here tomorrow to pick sixty leaders in the scores of athletic specialties on the Stockholm program. Matthew Halpin, manager of the team, who has twice been abroad with American athletes, said upon his return from Boston today: "You can't make it any too strong. We shall be invincible."

This confidence was re-echoed by every one who has followed the weeks of preparation for the games. The preliminaries came to a climax yesterday with new marks by Lindberg of Chicago for the 400 meters; by Kiviat of New York and Patterson of Chicago for the 1500 meters; by Kramer of the Long Island A. C. for the 10,000 meters and the sensational pole vault record of 13 feet, 2 1/4 inches by Wright of Dartmouth.

The record of Horine, the high jumping marvel of the Pacific coast, at 6 feet 7 1/2 inches, the wonderful discus throwing by Duncan of New York and other marvelous performances gives the American team at Stockholm at least six Olympic records in the events of the Stockholm program and near records in practically all the other events.

The preliminary showing is in remarkable contrast to the English tryouts where only fair times and distances were made, and the Canadian tryouts yesterday in which no

GIRL REPROVED.
SEEKS OWN LIFE.

Emma Brown Said She Wanted to Scare Her Mother.
Drank Iodine.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, June 9.—Feeling that she had been unjustly reprimanded by her mother, Emma Brown, living with her mother at 702 Frenchman street, a pretty girl of 17 years, attempted to take her life at her home shortly before 8 o'clock Saturday morning. The girl drank iodine. She was sent to the hospital, where she was relieved of the drug and permitted to return home.

Miss Brown, who is employed as a packer in the Monticello Drug Co., in St. Louis street, and aids in the support of her mother, told the good sisters at the charity hospital Saturday that she will never attempt such a deed again; that she is ashamed of herself and believed that her mother would forgive her.

"I drank the iodine, not to end my life, but to scare my mother," was what the girl told the sisters in the hospital. "She reprimanded me Saturday morning for something I did not do, and I became angry and disgusted."

The girl is a native of Central America. Some time ago she secured employment in the Monticello Drug Co. and was considered an efficient packer by that concern.

DERANGED BY CROP WORRY.

Special to The Morning News.

Omaha, Neb., June 9.—Solomon Newman of Shawnee, Okla., arrived in Omaha today and left for St. Louis with Jacob Schloss of Shawnee, who was taken in charge by the police Wednesday night on an insanity charge. He will be placed in a sanitarium at St. Louis.

Schloss is a merchant at Shawnee, and 45 years old. He had a revolver in his possession when taken in charge by the police, and contemplated suicide. He suffers from the hallucination that his wife is dead, and says he has nothing to live for. His wife is ill at Shawnee. Newman says Schloss became mentally deranged over worrying about crop prospects in Oklahoma.

New York, June 9.—The considerable recovery in prices of stocks last week was partly a correction of the excess into which the decline ran at the end of the preceding week. The advance was accompanied by a fair consensus of hopeful views of the business and financial prospects from various authorities.
Evidence of improvement is still far more pronounced in the iron, steel and copper industries than in general trade, but confidence is still shown in those basic industries as a trend of business as a whole. Iron and steel is secure enough to dis-prove the tradition that prosperous conditions are not to be expected in a presidential year. With a prospective demand for raw steel in the latter part of the summer which promises to exceed capacity and

Print cloths are inactive, sales at Fall River amounting to but 80-100 pieces a week. Prints are steady and quiet. Bleached goods are unchanged. Extra ginghams are dull. Branded brown sheetings and drills are little changed but there has been some revision on sheetings for the converting trades. Prices about as follows:
Print cloths, 28 inch, 54x34's,
3 15-16; 64x60's, 3 14; 38 1-2 inch, 64x64's, 5; standard shirtings, southern 7 3-4 to 8; denim, 8-9, 13 1-4; tickling, 8-9, 13c;
standard prints, 7 1-4; standard staple ginghams, 5 1-4; dress ing-hams, 9 1-4.

New York, June 9.—Accidents to steel finishing plants and the memorial holiday alone prevented the breaking of all steel output records in May as was done in steel making pig iron. Specific orders and shipments, however, established a new high mark. Not a few of the independent mills lacked an adequate supply of labor. As it was the United States Steel corporation produced 1,485,000 tons of steel in May, a record exceeded only in March, 1910.

The output of finished steel products of the corporation's subordinary companies was at the rate of 13,365,000 tons per year. New orders, while less than the daily average in April, equalled the full productive capacity of the mills and shipments averaged only about 4000 tons per day less. To the 2,513,000 tons of pig iron produced in May the corporation furnaces contributed 1,269,000 tons, 25,000 tons more than was ever before produced in one month.

Railroad equipment buying was much reduced in volume last week, with interest mainly in bridge contracts, including 20,000 for the Louisville and Nashville. The principal rail contracts were $1,000 tons for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas; 12,000 tons for the St. Louis and San Francisco. Supplementary orders also were placed by the Harrison interests.

By The Associated Press.

New Orleans, June 9.—The cotton market this week promises to be little more than a weather affair. There is some manipulation in progress on the bull side and this may be carried further this week but it is hard to see how it can be put through with success unless weather continues unfavorable.
With favorable conditions, there will be a large element who will talk of and work for a reaction from the recent advance.

Broadly speaking, what is needed this week to do most good to the young crop is rain in the west and sunshine in the east. Light showers followed by a day or two of fair weather would be ideal for Texas; Oklahoma needs rain. In the eastern belt showers will be regarded as highly unfavorable, as too much rain has already fallen in some localities and complaints of grassy fields are commencing to come in.
In the central belt probably sunshine would be most favorable.

Much talk of a reduced spot denoted last week that the amount of cotton and also that the into sight movement was not large these two features were taken by the bears to mean that there was nothing in the claim that a better spot inquiry was springing up.

By The Associated Press.

Baltimore, June 9.—Any one possessing a "houn" dog that is always getting under the feet and is still too valuable to shoot can dispose of it to good advantage by communicating with the Champ Clark headquarters in Washington.

The "houn's" will be used to boom the candidacy of Speaker Clark. Any that are furnished by Marylanders will be in aristocratic company, for from Missouri a pack of genuine
"show-me" dogs has been obtained.
Quantity is what is needed now rather than quality, and any lank and lean dog with a hungry look that spells his name "d-a-w-g" will be reserved with open arms by the speaker's campaign managers, though his reception by his friends may not be so enthusiastic.

By The Associated Press.

Baltimore, June 9.—Capt. Harvey
P. Morhiser's eagle eye caught a half-pint bottle of whiskey in the western district leaving the wrong place yesterday morning in company with a negro woman, and the captain's subsequent action got a Pine street saloonkeeper and his bartender into trouble.

Captain Morhiser was surveying his district when he saw Eliza Braston, colored, leaving the neighborhood of Henry E. Schoenewolf's saloon, 17 and 19 North Pine street. He noticed an unusual bulge of her shirtwaist sleeve, halted her and found a half-pint of whiskey under the bulge.

Eliza confessed that she had bought the whiskey from Schoenewolf's saloon.
Captain Morhiser called Sergeant Burns of the western district, and together they entered the saloon and found Charles W. Miller, the bartender, there. Miller and Schoenewolf were placed under arrest and taken to the Western police station.
Miller was charged with "performing unnecessary work on Sunday," and was fined $5 and costs by Justice Bayler. Schoenewolf was charged with selling intoxicating liquors on Sunday and was released for court on $500 bail. Eliza lost her whiskey.

GOOD OLD TIMES.
I—Now, old man, make yourself comfortable and let's talk over the good old times. We haven't seen each other since we were boys together. I told you I was married, didn't I? By the way, did you ever live in Painesville?
"Yes. I lived there three years."
"Ever meet Mrs. Katfish?"
"Ha! ha! Why, I was engaged to her. But that's nothing—all the fellows in my crowd were engaged to her at one time or another. I see you're alive in Painesville. Why did you ask about her in particular? Come—confess."
"Why—I—er—I married her."

FRIENDS.

We can not always choose our friends; sometimes they choose us. Friends are among the greatest of our blessings, and there is one thing certain, the cheerful, congenial person will always have many friends, and, despite much scoffing, true friends are all sorts of a blessing. Suppose that all your life long you had not succeeded in attracting and holding a few good friends? Imagine yourself starting down the street in the morning to go to your place of business; with this supposition in view, no one would wave friendly greeting to you; no one would say, "Hello, old chap! How goes it?" Another, perhaps, "How is the good wife and children?" And again, perhaps, "Meet me at the club for luncheon at noon; I have a friend in town whom I want you to know, for I want my friends to be your friends." Later in the day this friendless man might find also that he has lost several thousand dollars on the sale of a piece of real estate or some other business transaction, simply because another man's friend had given him a tip instead, just to help him along. Going home on the elevated, no one pulled him into a seat to whisper the good news that Ed had a new boy at his house that he would christen Sunday. Even when he arrived home, tired, dispirited and disgusted with the world and himself, no little children ran to open the gate for him and shout, "Here comes papa," all because he did not even know how to make loving friends of his own children. Of course these are but a few instances of what a man without friends would miss, for there is nothing more helpful and energizing than the strong, warm handclasp of your friend and his words of encouragement, for the love in his heart permeates his whole being, coming out in little thrills when his handclasp conveys his feelings for you, or in gleams from his friendly eyes and the light of his cheery smile. Love your friends forever and a day.

There are as many kinds of religion in the world as there are people in the world. It is a fact that no two people think just alike upon anything, not even upon religion, and although many of them belong to the same church, they have shades of belief that are different. Let every fellow worship God in his own way, for each person has his own life to live, and he ought to have the privilege of living it as he chooses, just so long as it does not conflict with the rights and the liberties of some one else.

Waco is going to be the greatest health resort in Texas some day. When that hot well is drilled, and it is demonstrated that there is plenty of hot water under the ground that will cure any of the troubles that any of the other hot wells in Texas will cure, then people will begin to flock to Waco to try to find a cure. There is no limit to the people who are afflicted. Every minute a new one is created or born. All Waco needs is the hot well, and plenty of good, earnest boosting from all her citizens. The press always does its share of boosting and then some one else's part. Come to Waco.

It begins to look like Uncle Sam has an expensive job down in Cuba to protect American interests. It costs some good money to send warships to Guantanamo and to transport 5000 soldiers from Key West or some other point to the island out in the sparkling waters of the Caribbean sea. The battle cry was "Remember the Maine," but now many of us would like to forget the Maine for a few years. We don't care much about the money, for we are prodigally rich in this glorious land of sunshine, politics and promise, but we do object to killing our good soldiers over the rows of a few Cuban negroes. We got into trouble when he exercised sovereignty over Cuba and bought the Philippine islands, and that trouble, like Banquo's ghost, will not down.

We do a great many things theoretically, but what do we do practically? Are we of the class who let others do our charity for us, and who let others say the things that we ought to give? If we are, some day there will come a time when we will regret that we did not take the time to lift a few tired bodies from where they had fallen because their burdens were greater than they could bear. Let us do while we have the strength to do, for we know not what the morrow will bring for any of us. Today is ours, tomorrow may be too late.

If you reason that a certain course is the proper one to follow, it is certainly advisable to do so, for in nine cases out of ten you will be sorry if you do not. There is, however, the tenth time, and sometimes the heart rules instead of the reason. When this happens, do not be surprised if the consequences prove unpleasant. It seems strange that one can not be guided by affection rather than logic, yet the medium ground between the two would be far the safest.

Col. Jake Wolters is belligerent and would shoot the lights and lives out of the Mexicans who kill the Americans in Mexico or who heap insults and indignities upon them. This spirit of protecting American citizens finds a responsive chord in the hearts of many citizens of the United States, and the Colonel does himself no harm in dwelling upon this subject.

Roosevelt says that if everybody is honest there will be no occasion for any one to bolt the republican convention. But according to the Colonel, there is but one honest man, and that is himself. All the rest belong to the Ananias club.

A man may fool himself into believing that he is getting something out of life by living a selfish life, but he will find in his old age that the pleasures that seemed so sweet to him will become as bitter ashes on his lips.

ALASKA FISHING VILLAGES BURIED BY VOLCANIC ASHES

KATMAI ERUPTION COVERS 300 SQUARE MILES WITH SEVERAL INCHES OF ASHES.

Seward, Alaska, June 9.—Passengers on the mail steamer Dora, which arrived from the westward today, after passing through a shower of ashes from Katmai volcano, believe that several small fishing villages on the shores of Shelikof strait may have been destroyed by the eruption. The revenue cutter service at Unalaska has been asked to send assistance.

The Dora steamed into the harbor early today, her white covering making her appear a phantom of the seas. Those on the steamer as she passed through the falling ashes were nearly suffocated by poisonous gases. She was in sight of Katmai when the eruption, a brilliant spectacle, began.

This was at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and the mountain was in plain view. At 4 o'clock, when the Dora was twenty miles from the volcano, total darkness came and ashes began to fall thick upon the deck, covering it with a white layer three inches deep. The stifling atmosphere made the passengers very ill.

At 5 o'clock Friday morning the Dora, having steamed fifty miles out of her course, reached clear air and the passengers were able to breathe freely again.

The volcanic disturbances are the most violent in the history of Alaska. It is estimated that an area of 300 square miles, much of it fertile country, has been covered to a depth of several inches by the volcanic ash.

RAIL OFFICIALS' CAR IS FATAL TO TWO

Philadelphia, June 9.—Mrs. Hugh T. Hauge was killed and her husband fatally injured tonight when an automobile, owned and occupied by W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railway Company, ran them down near their home in Villa Nova, a suburb. The couple were walking along a dark stretch of the road when the machine, driven by a chauffeur, crashed into them. Mr. Atterbury and the chauffeur were held to await the action of the coroner.

STRIKE AS SHIP IS ABOUT TO SAIL

Havre, June 9.—Firemen, grimers and sailors to the number of 550 left the French liner France today just as the vessel was about to sail for New York. The men demanded an increase in wages of 30 francs per month for the firemen and 20 francs for the others. When refused, they left in a body.

The steamship company has asked the government to supply firemen and sailors from the warships. It is expected that the France will get away by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Capital seldom enters a city on a mule train; it takes modern transportation facilities to attract a good thing.

PARKS CROWDED WITH PLEASURE SEEKERS

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE THROUGH BREATHING PLACES—CHILDREN ENJOY PLAYGROUND.

The hot afternoon yesterday drove hundreds of Wacoans to the different parks, the country and anywhere that was cool or at least furnished an abundance of outdoor air. Cameron Park, of course, was fairly overflowing with picnic parties and others. The playgrounds were the storm center for children, long lines of them forming for their turn at the different apparatus.

Gul Ross Park and Riverside Park also were full of outdoor seekers during the late afternoon. The little South Eighth street park has just been leased and is now being spick and span, and also furnished its breathing spot, while the East Waco park had its usual Sunday crowd.

"Two years ago," said a prominent Waco club woman, who had just completed a round of the different breathing places and flushed with pleasure at the evident enjoyment of the parks by the public, "there was no place but the weed-grown river banks for the people to go on hot Sunday afternoons."

"Why, I remember they used to run baseball excursions in here from east and central Texas and the excursionists had no place to rest but on the dusty curbstone. Local people made no attempt to spend the days out of doors, for there was no place to go."

"Then the women of the clubs took up the agitation for parks and when I saw the hundreds enjoying the fruits of our efforts this afternoon I was very glad indeed to have done my small part towards bringing about the condition."

And the exclamation, too, might have felt a deep thrill of pleasure had they seen the playground in Cameron Park with its hundreds of happy children.

HERNANDEZ ROUTED

Federals Defeat Enemy and Have Survivors Surrounded.

El Paso, Tex., June 9.—Consul Lorente today received word that the rebel forces of Generals Cana and Arguendo were routed at Nazaz, 50 miles east of Torreon by Gen. Blanquet with 1500 federal cavalry, who claim to have the last remnant of the rebels surrounded.

OFFICER OF DEWEY'S STAFF AT MANILA DIES

Washington, June 9.—Rear Admiral Pfeiffer Lambertson, U. S. N., retired, who was Admiral Dewey's officer of staff and who received the surrender of the officers of the Spanish fleet after the battle of Manila, died suddenly at his home here late tonight.

HUGH KROGH DIES. Chicago, June 9.—Hugh E. Krogh (Hek), 48 years old, a well known Chicago sporting writer, died at his home here tonight. He has been engaged in newspaper work for 31 years.

COMING WEEK IS IMPORTANT TO CITY

ACTIVITY OF BUSINESS CLUB OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES TO LIVE WIRES.

Much Depends at This Time on Keeping Organizations Active and Working.

Two events of interest in the business world of Waco during the coming week are the trade excursion of the Y. M. B. L. to Smithville and intermediate points and the combination business meeting and smoker of the Business Men's Club. The former takes place Wednesday and the latter Thursday.

The junketing trip is the first of four events of similar character to take place this summer. They are designed to keep Waco before the trade territory for the fall business and to advertise the Cotton Palace.

Cotton Palace First Step. It is generally conceded that the inauguration of the Cotton Palace was the first step toward making Waco the "city of actualities." The success of the exposition avowed many people the possibilities of a city with the central location possessed by Waco, and also with the rich trade territory tributary to the city. Other things were attempted and with inevitable success, until now Waco is probably as well known over the United States as any city of three times its population.

This is the direct result of the hustling abilities of its business organizations. Everything they have undertaken has been put through with such characteristic energy and unusual features that the little city of Waco is being watched by innumerable investors. Every Man Should Help. It is easily understood, therefore, that the growth and development of the city is largely in the hands of the business men's organizations and that it is vital to keep them alive. It is up to every citizen to help make their meetings and plans a success, even at some little sacrifice to his personal affairs—as individual success is impossible in a dead town.

For these reasons it is hoped the booster train Wednesday will carry at least 150 business men, and that the assembly hall of the Business Men's Club will be crowded Thursday night.

It is announced by the Business Men's Club that arrangements have been completed for the moving of their rooms to the Amicable building, where six offices will be remodeled for the use of the club. Four of these will be thrown into an assembly room, new and handsome furniture will be installed and, when the club is settled in its new home, it will have quarters that cannot fail to impress any visitor.
